

© ally aukauloo¹ (Univ. Paris-Saclay)

ile de Science
PARIS-SACLAY

COMPETITION EXTENDED UNTIL MAY 31, 2021

REMINDER OF THE STUDENT COMPETITION ON BIO-INSPIRE INNOVATION

Bio-inspired Innovation is about observing the living things and drawing inspiration from them to design new technologies or strategies. Biomimicry is a similar concept that focuses on applications for the benefit of ecological transition.

In order to contribute to this growing theme and to stimulate innovative projects, the Ile de Science Paris-Saclay Society is organizing the

IBIS Contest "Innovation Bio-inspirée Ile de Science"

at its next symposium on Thursday, May 27, 2021.

Purpose of the competition :

- Present innovative projects in the field of bio-inspiration.

¹Natural Photosynthesis: A Source of Inspiration for Chemists
(Coll. "Innovation Bio-Inspired", 2019)

Proposals may address all sectors of activity, such as:

agriculture, agri-food, construction, communications, cosmetics, defense, energy, information, leisure, materials, robotics, health, sports, transport, urban planning, etc.

The competition is open to all students (from post-bac level up to the Master2's degree) registered in the institutions (Universities, High Schools) of the Paris-Saclay territory and its surroundings.

This competition is organized in partnership with CEEBIOS, the French center for studies and expertise in biomimicry, and with the support of the Paris-Saclay Community, Crédit Agricole, EDF and Société Servier.

The competition will be granted with three prizes of 1 000, 2 000 and 3 000 euros.

Applications and proposals must be emailed to association@iledescience.org

New deadline for receiving applications: May 31, 2021

Documentary resources are available on the CEEBIOS website (<https://ceebios.com>).

CEEBIOS will organize a methodological assistance webinar for project preparation specially dedicated to the candidates of the IBIS competition, on Tuesday March 23 (6 p.m. - 7 p.m.).

Registration for this webinar: association@iledescience.org.

Applicants could mention their need for English translation.

ile de Science
PARIS-SACLAY

WITH THE SPONSORSHIP OF

